More Water. It is to be hoped that Congress will give early consideration to the bill introduced by Senator Ingalls on the 13th instant to increase the water supply of the city of Washington. It is proposed to extend the main conduit of the Washington Aqueduct from its present terminus to a point near Boundary, Tenth street, and New Jersey avenue, and there to connect it with the distributing pipes of the city. Now the water comes to the reservoir, and from thence is supplied to the city by mains, which are insufficient. If the great conduit, nine feet in diameter, is brought directly to the distributing mains of the city the supply will be mains of the city the supply will be more than sufficient. If it shall eventually be found desirable to establish another reservoir that work can be done by-and-bye. At present the safe way is to urge the passage of Mr. Ingall's bill, for in that the people of the city will have relief from the present miserably inadequate supply. It is something incomprehensible that a city of 180,000 people should be without water in its second stories, and many houses often without any at all, when from a source of supply inexhaustible and one hundred and fffty feet above tide water a conduit. and fffly feet above tide water a conduit nine feet in diameter comes nearly to the

among the politicians an impression exists that to put eleven members of one party and two mem-bers only of the other party on a committee which is to pass upon contested seats in a House very nearly divided cannot be called a strictly impartial act. The impression is well founded. But who expected anything else or anything better from the actual Speaker of the House,—New York World,

The records of the House of Representatives from 1875 to 1881, during which time the Democracy were in a majority, show that among Democratic politicians impartiality in the consideration of contested election cases has not been considered praticularly essential. The World might find opportunity for much reflection in the case of Bisbee es. Hull, which was decided at the close of the Fortyfifth Congress. If we remember aright the World's friends in Congress kept Bisbee (Republican) out of his seat until after the chief criminal who stuffed and counted his Democratic opponent in had served out his term therefor in the penitentiary, to which a Democratic court had sentenced him. A party organ which did not complain of that outrage should not be too quick to assume that injustice is intended solely because Democrats have only a small minority on the Committee on Elections.

THE appointment of Mr. Page, of California, to be chairman of the Commerce Committee was alleged to be in favor of corporations and monop-olies, in support of which allegation Mr. Page's connection with Huntington and the Pacific railroads was remarked. The contrast in this regard to Mr. Reagan, who was formerly chairman, and who has always attacked monopolics, is great.— Washington Post.

Not so fast. Mr. Page was and is an earnest supporter of the Reagan bill to regulate interstate commerce. He voted for it, and will again. The distinguished author will doubtless have charge of his favorite measure in the committee and on the floor. So far from there being any connection between Mr. Page and the Central Pacific Railroad Company, the Sacramento (Cal.) Record-Union, owned and published by that company, daily pours out upon that gentleman mean and unstinted abuse. The Post has been mis-

WE do not understand that there is any complaint among the New York members because Mr. Hiscock was made chairman of the Committee on Appropriations. New York had united in the support of that gentleman for the Speakership, and could not but accept him for the best place on committees. But we do hear of considerable disappointment over the small representation accorded New York in other important chairmanships. She fuinishes about one-ninth of all the members of the House by virtue of her population, and her Representatives undoubtedly did expect more than one of the leading committees. It is not like New Yorkers to repine, however, and they will composedly accept the situation and hope for better luck next time. The cable informs us that an editor in Germany has been sentenced to four weeks' imprisonment for animadverting on the attitude of Prince Bismarck on a public question. "Animadverting" is not a crime in this country, though some folks affected not long ago to think other-

The Homsepathic Hospital. A meeting of the board of lady managers appointed by the trustees on the 9th instant was held vesterday afternoon at the Congregational Church for organization, and, in spite of the mit, nearly forty members were present. Although only a temporary organization was effected, the practical work of the board was begun by Mrs. Judge Not, who sent a check for $25. After a general discussion of the hospital question the beard adjourned to meet in two weeks for the election of officers. "TRIBUNE" SPITE.

The following extracts from yesterday's New fork Tribuse will show more of the venom of that lieged Republican paper toward Pre-ident Ar-buse. leged Republican paper of a civil-service re-rur:

be brought to a successful conclusion under his immediate successor."

"Another devoted disciple of Stalwartism was appointed by the President yesterday to be super-intendent of the away office, in this city. At the present rate of progress the whole minority wing of the party will be exhausted within three months, and it can then be said that not one of the immortal 206 is left without an office."

"Colonel Logan McKee, of Kentucky, was one of the 206. After this statement it is perhaps needless to add that he bus been in Washington and called on the President. He says his object was not to get an office for himself, but for inteteen or twenty friends of his in Kentucky. As chairman of the Kentucky delegation at Chicago Colonel McKee cast twenty of its twenty-four votes thirty-six times for Grant and a third term, and his mission would seem to indicate that every man of the twenty is looking for his reward."

Christmas Entertainment.

Misses Pollock and Noert, of the Freebel Institute, gave their annual Christmas entertainment yealerday afternoon in Talimadge Hall. Notwithstanding the pouring rain, there was quite a good audience. The little ones all did their partso well it would be difficult to say which deserved the most praise. The kinder-arten class in costume represented the various trades and industries, as played by the children daily at their regular play-time. The children are all taught German, and it is asionishing what a correct accent some have already sequired. A dialogue in German by Hertie Ryan and Milton Blumenberg was very good. Great care has evidently been taken with music, both vocal and instrumental, for the little fairles sing out with almost as much ease as a prima donna. Milton and Martha Blumenberg played a duct with laste and correctness which would have done credit to much older persons. The crowning feature of the entertainment was the rainbow, which was formed of welve children, most of them little girls, raised upon the stage and wearing the different colors of the rainbow. The whole formed a pretty tablera, apart from the sentiment, which was very beautiful, and gave additional charm to the representation. Each color was named, and the names were significant of the cardinal virtues, such as "Charlty." "Gentleness," "Gratitude," "Usefulness," and "Worth."

A Brilliant Bridal Reception.

The reception given by Judge and Mrs. W. H. Howard, at their residence, on the occasion of their son's marriage, Wednesday evening, was a most flattering success in all respects, notwithstanding the incinence of the night. Among the invited guests and those present were Senstor and Mrs. Logan, Senator Jones, Representative George Ainslee, Hon. A. M. Clapp, Coloide and Mrs. C. Calvert Egerton, of Baltimore, and their three charming daughters, Misses Lula, Emma, and Virguis: Major N. H. and Mrs. Camp. Dr. William Grinsted and daughters, Misses, L. R. Thian, W. D. Mack, John J. Medling, B. Engle, Hobbard S. Smith, W. H. Porter, F. B. Miller, Charles Brandt, Halvor Nelson, W. N. Peck, William B. Stokes, Arthur Wiecker, W. H. and Mrs. Roach, C. W. Shelton, Judge Samuel C. Mills and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thyson, Major and Mrs. Frank Thyson, Major and Mrs. Frank P. Snyder and son, of lowa; General Nichols and daughter, H. Duval, esq. of Baltimore: Mrs. C. Smith, of Philadelphin: Mrs. General Turner, and others. The bridal presents were rich and numerous, and many of them exquisite articles of adornment and substantial use, and the floral decorations of the parior in which the Bride and groom received were very handsome, but not more so than was the bewitching young wife and her spouse. Their hosts of friends join in wishing them a hearty God-speed. A Brilliant Beidal Reception

If our people will give attention to this and importune Senators and Representatives to apply the remedy they will be heard. We advocate a general system of exhortation. Cry aloud and spare not. It is a case where people may be heard for their much speaking.

A Dollar's Worth. Marriage licenses were issued yesterday as fol-ows: Abram M. Smith and Susie A. Haskins, tlexander Gardner and Jennie Johnson, James W. Knott and Annie S. Cheseiline, Samuel Scott and Barbara. Johnson, Eldridge Hawkins and Nannie M. Habnes, David Miner and Sarah Alexander, Solomon Burke and Clara Coleman, George Armstrong and Margaret Heagan, Daniel G. Wood and Annie R. Johnson, Elward Saunders and Alice Cooper, Clement B. West and Sarah A. Lindsley, all of this city; Welford C. Atchison, of Shenandesh County, Virginia, and Lydia C. Minnick, of Rockingham, Virginia; Aloysius Malone and Salie R. Mattingly, both of Calvert County, Maryland; Frankin Mangan and Elizabeth White, both of Prince George's County, Maryland; Charles P. Anderson, of this city, and Mary A. Barnes, of Montgomery County, Maryland; James Moore, of this city, and Mary A. Barnes, of Montgomery County, Maryland; James Moore, of this city, and Mary V. Suton, of Alexandria, Virginia.

The official Envelope Case.

The case of J. Edward Sullivan, charged with using an official envelope belonging to the Pension Office for private correspondence, was heard in the Police Court yesterday. Mr. A. A. Lipscomb appeared for the defendant. Mr. H. R. McCalimore lestified that he was connected with the Pension Office, and was handed an official envelope containing a private letter by Commissioner Dudley, and directed by him to investigate it. He stated that the defendant is a pensioner and is applying for an increase of pension, and this letter was written to a person in Syracuse in connection with his application for an increase. The use of the envelope was discovered by the letter coming back to the office. The court imposed a fine of $500 or six months in Jall, and suggested that the defendant go to the parisoning power for relief. An appeal was noted and bond given in the sum of $500. The Official Envelope Case.

The issues from the Probate Court in the matter of the prepounded will of the late Patrick Brown were filed in the Circuit Court yesterday for trial by jury. The paper purporting to be the will leaves the property principally to Margaret Croniu and names Daniel Curtin as the executor. When it was presented to the Probate Court a cavest was filed thereto by Daniel Brown, one of the sons, for whom Mr. P. J. Donahue appears. The issues are whether the paper is the hast will of Patrick Brown, whether he was of sound and disposing mind and memory capable of executing a valid deed or contract at the time, and whether before or at the time of making said paper he was unduly influenced by Margaret Croniu or Daniel Curtin. Patrick Brown's Will.

An Exquisite Christmas Card.
One of the pretitest Christmas souvenirs brough out this season is cuttiled "The Yule Log," to sale by Hopkins Brothers, proprietors of the well known Franklin Book House, 200 Pennsylvani avenue. In a handsomely lithographed covemeant to represent "ye olde vule log," is a collection of Xuas ballads and poems by sucwriters as Rose Harwick Thorpe, Adelaide ProctoLongfellow, Tom Hood, and others. The leaves of the book are made of fine Bristol board, the letter press richly printed, and the whole tied with ritbon. The cover alone, printed in eight colors, a worth more than the price of the souvenir.

Adopting a Family.

There is an old hen at the exhibition rooms of the Artificial Incubation Company, 344 Fennsylvania avenue, whose motherly instincts have made her one of the attractions of the establishment. One egg was taken from the incubator and placed under the hen. She came off her uest the next day with her solitary chick; but upon observing the immense number of young chickens hatched by the machine she proceeded to claim and adopt them all. She has had with her at one time more than a thousand, and still continues to calm all as fast as they are hatched—from fifty to one hundred per day.

Family Discipline. A burly colored man mamed Alian Watson was charged in the Police Court yesterday with assaulting his wife, who testified that about one o'clock Wednesday morning her husband came home, and because she had no fire he pulled her out of bed and heat her over the head with a large irou poker and cut her head and face hadly. The prisoner took the stand and testified that he thought his wife was going to strike him, as she was in the habit of doing when he came in late, and he hit her. The Court sent him to jail for six months.

A letter to Mr. Whiteman, of this city, states that Colonel Pope had just arrived at White Oaks City, and stated that at a depth of 257 feet in the carbonate fields he had struck a new formation and pounded up a half an ounce of it. It mearly all amaignmated with quicksilver. It is nearly pure silver, and to the knowing few it is considered the biggest thing yet struck in the way of mining. If the conjecture of Colonel Pope is correct in reference to the extent of this silver, deposits in Leadville will not be comparison.—Lea Veges poper.

Professor Marini Caued.

The pupils of Marini's Dancing Academy last ight presented to Professor L. G. Marini a handome gold-beaded cane. Appropriate remarks, ordering the present, were made by F. B. Brock, rich were feelingly responded to by the Profesor, and all united in wishing him a very merry hristmas and a happy New Year.
